A note from Director Jill

The magical month of December at CMP included many themes supporting learning, sharing and fun! We used musical instruments to sing Christmas and Hannukah songs. The children had fun making pinecone trees, jingle bell bracelets, popsicle stick stars and, of course, a special present for parents. In January, our themes will include hibernating animals, snow, dogs and cats.

Please take a moment to label jackets, sweaters and sweatshirts so we can help you keep track of your children's clothing.

Thank you for remembering to monitor your children while they wash hands in the morning. Since we are entering the cold and flu season, everyone--parents, teachers, and children, appreciate your consideration in keeping sick children at home.

An important safety reminder for everyone who delivers and picks up children is to please always shut the front door upon entering and leaving. We are seeing it left open, especially after the noon pickup. Thank you! Jill

Dads and Doughnuts

Dads and Doughnuts is coming soon! Here's a chance for dads to spend some special time with their child. A few dads are needed to set up the obstacle course so please show up about a half an hour early if you'd like to help. Look for the sign-up sheet on the table out front later this month.

Big Barney Bear's Visit

Just before the winter holiday, the students had a wonderful surprise visit from Big Barney Bear who treated the kids to a wagon-full of wintertime books for each child as well as some new toys for the school. It was a perfect grand finale to the first half of the school year.

Itty Bitty Bios

"E" is for Erika who is an energetic explorer of all things at school. Erika is very curious and enjoys art projects. She is also the fastest runner at school, leaving all others behind doing laps in the yard. We don't know where she gets her stamina; it is a sight to behold.

Addie comes into school a little shy each day, but she quickly warms up and delves into all of the activities available. Addie is one of the younger children at school. She loves being around the older children and makes friends with everyone she meets.

Our spunky friend, Gemma, knows exactly what she wants to do and is an independent thinker. Her friends are very important to her. She likes to play with the dolls in the dramatic play area and has a wonderful imagination.

Lily comes to school with a purpose. She immediately sits down and gets busy at the writing center or with a puzzle. Her day is full with painting at the easel, playing with play dough and galloping through the play yard.

When Everly arrives at school, she quietly observes the scene and then joins her friends in the dramatic play area preparing meals and taking care of the dolls. She loves to talk to us about her family.

And Now Announcing...

The Arrival of a new friend: Espe! We look forward to having her join our wonderful family here at CMP! Please welcome her, she will be starting on January 7th.
